RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Dissertation Researcher 2010-2013

Is it still a sexual offense if society doesn't find it offensive? The impact of cultural constructions on rape proclivity, which used established scales, as well as a newly developed scale, to assess the relationship between belief in the sexual double standard and rape myth acceptance and an individual's likelihood to rape or force sex.

SUPERVISOR: Dr. Maureen McHugh, Indiana University of Pennsylvania

Independent Researcher

- Parent-child relationship and gender as moderators of adolescent antisocial behavior, 2007-2008
which explored whether closeness to parents, or the gender of the parent-child dyad, acted as a moderator to the relationship between child abuse and adolescent antisocial behavior
SUPERVISOR: Dr. Manfred van Dulmen, Kent State University
- More than Scars: The Relationship between Childhood Maltreatment and Antisocial Behavior, 2006-2007 which studied whether different types of maltreatment (i.e. physical abuse vs. neglect) led to different types of adolescent antisocial behavior (i.e. aggressive vs. non-aggressive)
